

Biography: Axel Krein – Executive Director, Clean Aviation Joint Undertaking

Axel Krein is the Executive Director of the Clean Aviation Joint Undertaking, a Public-Private Partnership and the European Union's leading Research and Innovation programme for steering aviation towards a sustainable and climate-neutral future. The aim is to develop and demonstrate disruptive new technologies and aircraft concepts aimed at reducing both CO₂ and non-CO₂ aircraft emissions.

With over two decades at Airbus in executive roles and being at the helm of Clean Aviation since February 2019, Axel brings extensive experience and is committed to shaping a climate-neutral future for aviation.