

María Ángeles Martín Prats is a full Professor in the Department of Electronic Engineering at the Higher Technical School of Engineering of the University of Seville (Spain), with over 25 years of teaching and research experience. She has led the Avionics research team since 2003.

She is Co-founder, President, and CEO of SkyLife Engineering, a spin-off company from the University of Seville, established in May 2011. Currently, it has over 70 highly qualified employees. She has participated in more than 100 industrial and research projects, and to date has been responsible for over 70 aeronautical projects involving technology transfer to industry.

She is Chair of the Spanish IEEE Aerospace and Electronics Systems Technical Chapter from June 2009 to June 2012. Chair of the Spanish IEEE WIE (Women in Engineering) Chapter from January 2006 to July 2011. Coordinator of the PEGASUS European Aerospace Excellence Network (www.pegasus-europe.org) at the Higher Technical School of Engineering of the University of Seville from 2008 to 2019 and member of the PEGASUS Board from April 2011 to 2019. Vice-President of the PEGASUS network from April 2013 to April 2015. Member of numerous national and international academic, research, and business committees.

She is Global finalist for the GEDC Airbus Diversity Award 2013. Winner of the EVAP Awards 2014. Winner of the Cortes de Cádiz Award 2015. Winner of the Los Remedios Personality Award 2015. Medal of Civil Merit awarded by King Felipe VI on June 19, 2015. Ada Byron Award for Women in Technology from the University of Deusto in 2018. Selected among the Top 100 Most Influential Women in Spain in 2014, 2015, and 2018, currently an honorary member, in the Academics and Researchers category, Mujeres&CIA. Medal of the City of Seville, Seville City Council, 2019. Award as an example of leadership and inspiration, WITH Gala, Women Leaders, Bilbao 2023. Meridiana Awards, promoting science and innovation in women, Junta de Andalucía. 2025.

She is also member of the Clean Sky Academy working group of the European Commission's Joint Undertaking from October 2017 to 2018. Member of the Scientific Committee, an advisory group of the European Commission's Joint Undertaking, from 2018 to May 2019. Currently an independent expert for the Joint Undertaking. Representative of European aviation SMEs on the Governing Board of the European Commission's Clean Aviation initiative since 2024.